

Senior Policy Analyst

Under the general supervision of a manager. The employee in this position performs professional interdisciplinary policy development and research. Responsibilities include developing, coordinating, and managing the City of Regina Demographic Information Systems, monitoring and annual reporting on policies, as well as providing research and support for a variety of divisional priority projects.

The work requires the employee to exercise judgement, initiative, and creativity. The nature of the work involves and requires a significant degree of independence, although the work is performed within the broad parameters and guidelines of divisional regulations, standards, and policies. The employee may supervise a specific functional area of work as leader of a project team with a given focus while under the direction of a manager. The employee may also supervise more junior staff.

Applications are being accepted until December 13, 2022.

For more information and to apply, go to the City of Regina Website:

<https://regina.hqcareers.com/en/js>